Not Very Impressive For Bullion Sector

This year's budget was a very expected budget since with higher inflation the FM has not touched any duties on gold and silver. The other reason duty on gold and silver has remained unchanged since the prices of bullion have been on all time high. With high inflation the purchasing power of people towards gold and silver have declined considerably. The imports have also seen a lower side with high prices. On the other hand the interest rates have skyrocketed. Overall the budget is not very impressive for the bullion sector.
