

Website: Forbes

Headline: SPOT trading in bullion launched

Link: <http://billionaires.forbes.com/article/04Wv9kdXN2NV?q=Hyderabad>

Date: 18th October, 2010

Coverage Page –

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Forbes website. The address bar shows the URL: billionaires.forbes.com/article/04Wv9kdXN2NV?q=Hyderabad. The page features the Forbes logo and navigation menus for U.S., EUROPE, and ASIA. The main article is titled "Spot trading in bullion launched" and is attributed to "Hindu Business Line" from 2 weeks ago. The article text states: "Riddisiddhi Bullion Ltd (RSBL), based at Mumbai, announced the launch of spot online trading here on Monday for the benefit of the trade, according to a press release. RSBL online trading is available in Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Bangalore, Chennai, Coimbatore, FULL ARTICLE AT HINDU BUSINESS LINE". Below the article, there are sections for "Coverage from Forbes" (including "Google in India's Cloud" and "Dave Girouard He is president for the enterprise business at Google Inc."), "Related Articles From The Web" (including "Hyderabad Metro to select 'independent engineer'" and "Pegasystems to set up sales arm in Mumbai"), and "MMIMS sets up base in Hyderabad". On the right side, there is an advertisement for ESET, featuring a robot and the text "ESET says, 'time's up.' Get more info here." and "Powered by @daylife". At the bottom right, there are social sharing options (SHARE, SHARE ON FACEBOOK, EMAIL, SHARE ON TWITTER) and a "Related Videos" section with links to TRUVEO, VIDEO SURF, and YOUTUBE.

Coverage -

Spot trading in bullion launched

Riddisiddhi Bullion Ltd (RSBL), based at Mumbai, announced the launch of spot online trading here on Monday for the benefit of the trade, according to a press release. RSBL online trading is available in Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Bangalore, Chennai, Coimbatore